

Recreation

Combining over 300 years of history with breathtaking scenic beauty, Westchester County offers outstanding recreation and leisure opportunities to its residents and visitors. Westchester County has an abundance of natural resources, including the Hudson River, Long Island Sound, the Croton and Mianus River gorges in addition to 30,000 acres of public parklands.

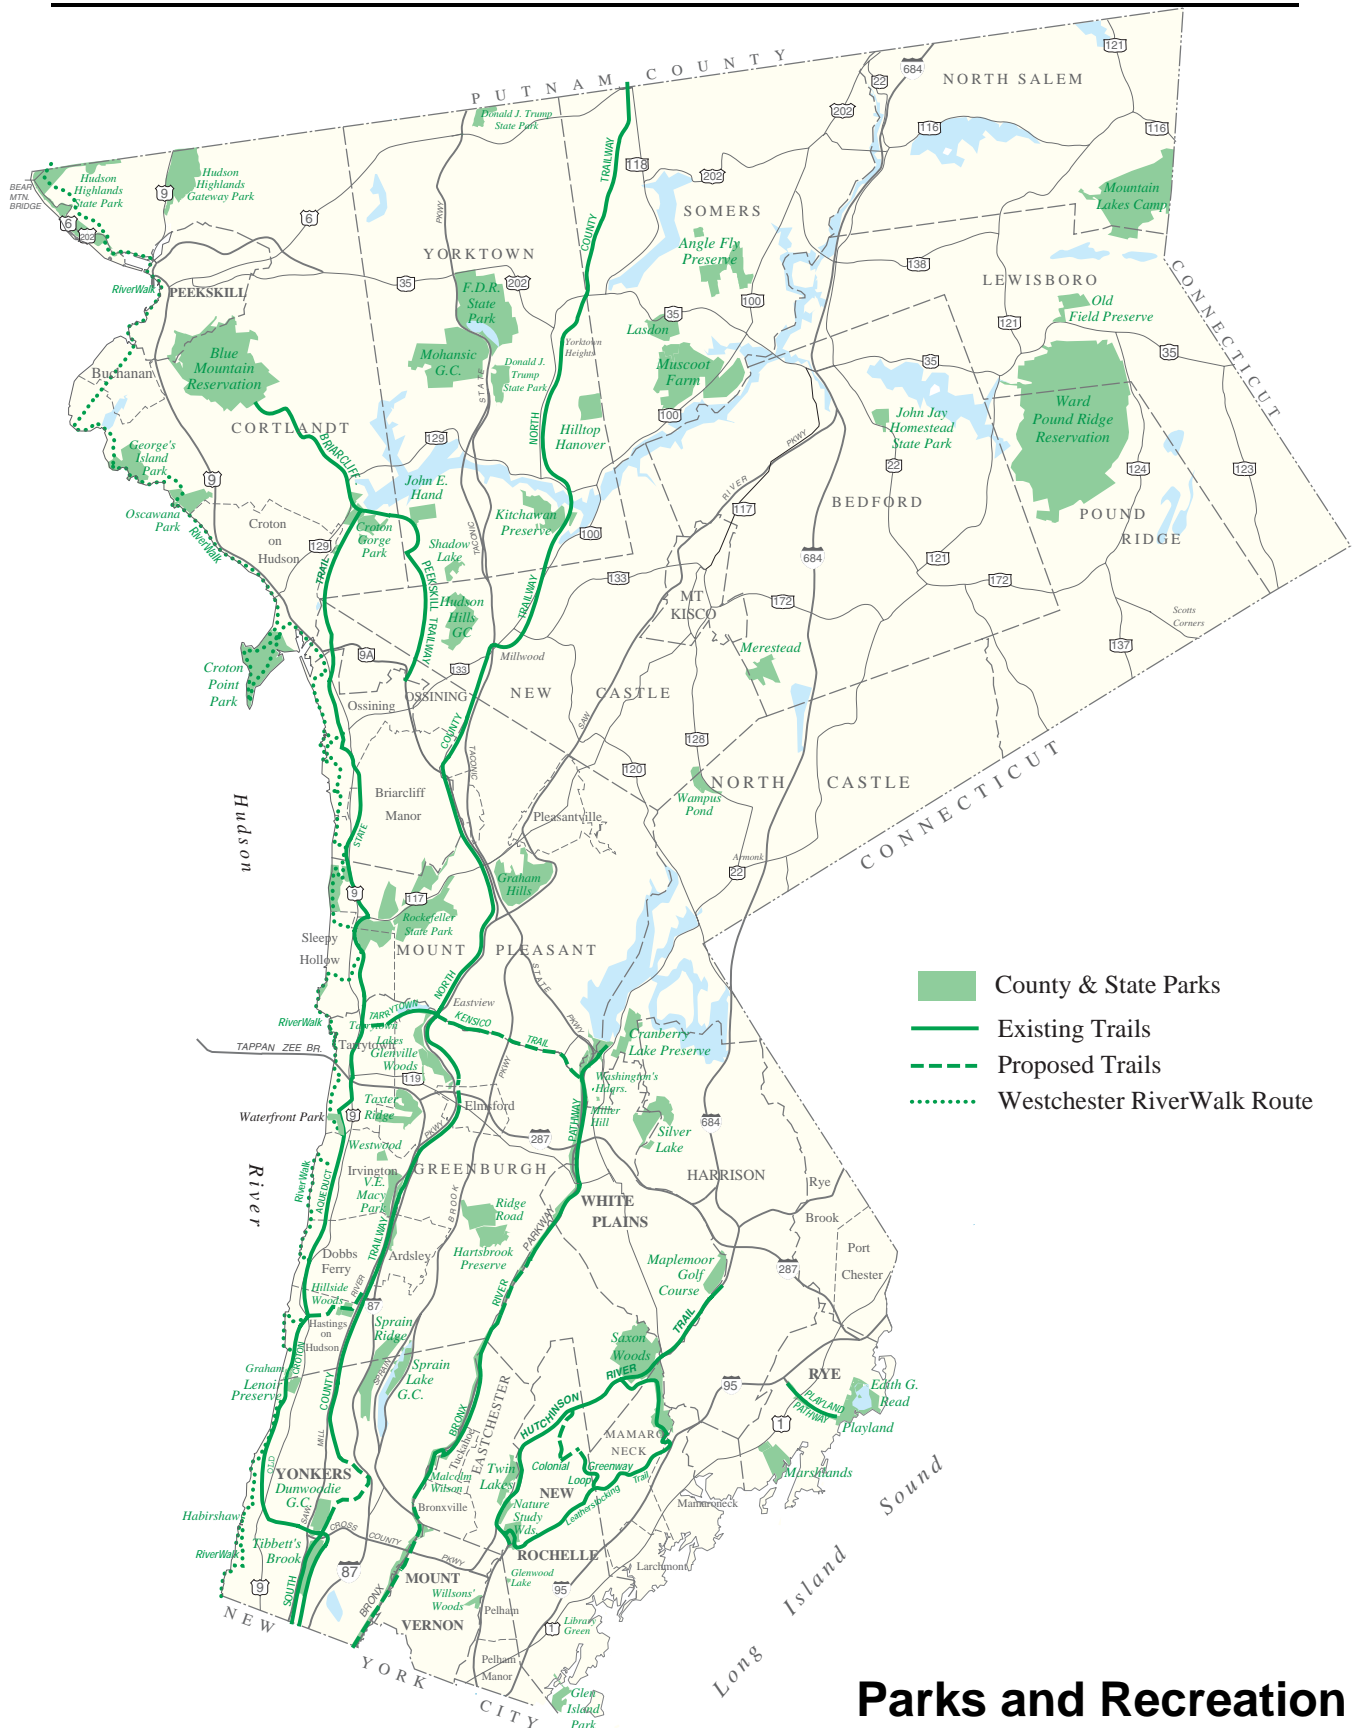

The Westchester County Parks system spans more than 17,000 acres. There are nearly 50 parks with six golf courses and recreational areas with hiking, swimming, cycling, fishing, skating, picnicking and other opportunities for outdoor activity. Additionally, the County parks host numerous events throughout the year.

Playland Amusement Park, a National Historic Landmark owned by the County, is America's first totally planned amusement park and the prototype for many of today's theme parks. Located on the Long Island Sound shore, Playland is a 279-acre recreational complex that includes a 40-acre amusement park with more than 50 rides, Kiddyland, games arcade, a miniature golf course, three-season ice skating casino, boardwalk, beach and pool. Opened in 1928, Playland attracts more than two million visitors annually and continues to delight children of all ages with its historic rides and contemporary attractions.

Westchester County's biking and hiking trail system takes advantage of linear open spaces, including parkways and former railroad and aqueduct rights-of-way to provide a countywide trail network that connects people with employment centers and parks. Major components of the system include the Bronx River Pathway, North and South County Trailways, Briarcliff-Peekskill Trailway, the Tarrytown-Kensico Trailway and the Old Croton Aqueduct Trailway. The trails provide recreational space for runners, walkers, cyclists and in-line skaters, as well as alternative commuting opportunities for Westchester residents. Mountain biking courses are also available in several County parks.
